7:00 – 9:30 PM	Two Short Films “Dąbrowski the Man: The Life Behind the Theory” & “Be Greeted, Psychoneurotics” The Theory of Positive Disintegration resonates with many who have experienced some of the ‘disintegration’ described in Dąbrowski’s complex work. The first short film was created with the belief that the life and times during which Dąbrowski developed his theory adds depth and understanding to those who engage with it. The second film allows the audience to see Dąbrowski himself work with a patient, and will be followed by commentary from psychologist Paul McGaffey, who worked with Dąbrowski, sharing what can be learned about the man and his theory from observing this interaction. Susan Picard, PhD &amp; Paul McGaffey, PhD AUBURN ROOM
